ANOTHER PROTEST

The Proposed Horticultural Measure Condemned

BY HORTICULTURISTS

In Mass Meeting Assembled at Spring-ville—An Imposition on the Taxpayers and Poor Men—Un-American and Arbitrary—The County Will Join in the Protest.

A mass meeting was held at Spring-ville recently to protest against house bills No. 68, 69-70, and C. B. 15, all of which are intended to regulate the horticultural interests of Utah territory.

A copy of these bills was sent by Mr.
H. M. Douglass to a certain gentleman prominent in horticultural matters at Springville. An examination of the bill caused great consternation, and a mass meeting was called to consider what would be the results if such a measure was really enforced. There were between one and two hundred men present.

NOTICE.

The officers and members of the woman's club are requested to meet at the residence of Mrs. Edna Houtz, on Tuesday evening, February 13th, to transact business of importance.

Edna Houtz, President.

Some uneasiness has been felt for the past two days in Provo concerning the fat of L. S. Glazier who left Provo on Friday, January 28th, for a mission to the southern states. Mrs. Glazier, on Wednesday, received a package addressed in a strange hand writing. On opening it she found the clothes her husband wore when he left Provo.

There was no letter of explanation and of course all sorts of surmises rushed through the lady's brain. Had her husband been murdered by some enemy who had further presented his awful work by sending her this sickening warning? Had he met death accidentally and the badge he wore indentified him, and would the mail tomorrow bring a letter containing the awful news? Or had a telegraphic message come, and were her friends and relatives afraid to convey the information to her? This and a thousand and one other questions flashed through her mind. Later she found that none in Provo had heard from her husband for a week and that all of the letters last received were descriptive of a highly enjoyed trip. What could the receipt of the package mean? Today, however, the delayed letter of explanation arrived and all doubts were set aside.

Mr. Glazier arrived in Chattanooga all safe and sound and is now well and heartily, laboring in the field assigned him—middle Tennessee. On arriving at Chattanooga he found that all the missionaries were expected to don a suit of clothes alike, and becoming the ministry—a black Prince Albert, stiff black tie, white shirt and all, and being rigged out in this "L" thought best to have his other clothes forwarded to his home.

Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"C. L. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass."

"It is with pleasure that I send a testimonial concerning what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for my daughter. It is a wonderful medicine and I cannot recommend it too highly. Sarah, who is fourteen years old, has been

Afflicted With Scrofula ever since she was one year old. For five years she has had a running sore on one side of her face. We tried every remedy recommended, but nothing did her any good until we commenced using Hood's Sarsaparilla. My married daughter advised me to use Hood's Sarsaparilla because It had cured her of dyspepsia. She had been troubled with that complaint since childhood, and since her cure she has never been without a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla in the house. We commenced giving it to Sarah about one year ago, and it has conquered the running sore.

Following protest was heartily unanimously adopted and it will be sent to all parts of Utah county for signatures:

To the Governor and Legislature of the Territory of Utah Assembled:

We the undersigned citizens and taxpayers of Utah county desire to place before your honorable body our remonstrance against the bills now pending before the house Nos. 68, 69 and 70, and council bill No. 15 in relation to creating and establishing a territorial board of horticulture, and appropriating money for the expenses thereof;

First—Because said bills are unwieldy and will cost more than all the benefits derived from their enforcement.

Second—Because the methods of enforcement are despotic and tyrannical, to-wit: The bills provide that the agent and commissioner shall inspect property, and if he finds eggs, or larva, or pupa, either in trees, fences, boxes or houses he shall order the same to be destroyed in a given time, and should they fail to accomplish their destruction within the said time, he is authorized to summon said party or parties before one or more of the commissioners of said board, and they shall condemn said premises and order the same abated, and shall proceed to destroy the person's premises. This may include his orchard, fences, barns, corrals, sheds, woodpiles, and granaries, and should his dwelling-house be lumber or logs all will have to be destroyed, because of these pests he left to local farmers these worms will crawl into all such places and deposit their larva, and if motives, deposit their eggs. Then to cap the climax charge the poor man up with all the expenses of this outrage, and sell his piece of land from which the buildings have already been destroyed, and turn him and his family out on the wide world homeless as monuments of this unjust legislation. And we feel as citizens that these bills are an insult to intelligent men.

For these and many other reasons we pray your honorable body not to pass any of these bills. While we as citizens are in sympathy with you in the destruction of the codling moth and vine pests, we the undersigned would most respectfully petition your honorable bodies that the destruction of these pests be left to local farmers and cities, as we believe the charters of all our cities are ample to authorize the councils to pass ordinance to this end, and enforce them. And those who have not by their charters the power to regulate and control said matters, that your honorable bodies pass an act enabling them to do so, and by this means be a great saving of public money and still accomplish the desired end. And your petitioners will ever pray.

Young Women Composers.

Two charming and talented young women composers who are making their mark are Helen Hood and Margaret Ruthven Lang. Both of them have for some years been known as writers of songs of far above average musical quality—songs which the Apollo club, whose stamp gives the hall mark, have delig-ed to sing, and songs which the best known musicians have hastened to praise.

Margaret Ruthven Lang, the daughter of the well known organist and composer, may be said to have directly inherited her musical gifts, yet in no less measure has Helen Hood, for her family, one of the oldest in New England, has always been noted for its musical ability.

It is not a little remarkable that both of these talented girls, whose gifts bear so close a resemblance to each other, can look back not only to a New England ancestry, but to ancestors whose lives touched closely in the same little Massachusetts town of Lynnfield three-quarters of a century ago, and it is not uninteresting to note that the first musical instruction which the grandfather of Margaret Lang received was given to him by the grandfather of Helen Hood.
—Boston Herald.

Popular Everywhere.

Beginning with a small local sale in a retail drug store, the business of Hood's Sarsaparilla has steadily increased until there is scarcely a village or hamlet in the United States where it is unknown.

Today Hood's Sarsaparilla stands at the head in the medicine world, admired in propriety and envied in merit by thousands of would-be competitors.
It has a large sale than any other medicine before the American public, and probably greater than all other sarsaparillas and blood purifiers combined.

Such success proves merit.
If you are sick, is it not the medicine for you to try? Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures.

The Modern Woman.

The era of newly educated womanhood seems to be bearing fruit already in the endeavor to place the household in a more healthful condition than was possible while women possessed little more than a smattering of piano playing and French and Berlin work. The National Housekeepers' Economic association was instituted for the express purpose of rousing women to a sense of their responsibility not only as housekeepers, but also as housebuilders, for from the science of true nourishment we are now passing to the study of true sanitation as embodied in the knowledge of heating, lighting and ventilation, and from this knowledge on to the higher ethics of the close relation between morality and sound living in a healthy environment, with proper food and clothing.

It is an interesting fact that it is the younger women instructors in the colleges that are taking up these practical questions instead of the abstruse theories of dead and forgotten languages. Professor Lucy Salmon of Vassar is devoting much study to the subject of domestic service, and Miss Marion Talbot of Boston for several years made sanitary science in practical form her special subject of study, acquiring such a reputation for her investigations that when Chicago university made up its faculty she was called to be a professor of sanitary science, with both women and men in her department.—New York Letter.
